Foreword - - - - Our Heritage, Our Legacy

The first train came into Elgin in July, 1902. Two months later, a two-room frame schoolhouse was erected to serve some seventy-five students in the first eight grades. This was possible because our pioneer ancestors truly believed in what later became our state motto: "Labor Omnia Vincit" ("Labor Conquers All Things"). They believed in putting forth their labor so that their children would have a chance to become educated and useful citizens. This first school building is still a landmark in Elgin. It was sold and moved in 1910 and served as a Catholic Church and is now being used as their parish hall. The two rooms were soon outgrown, and a classroom was set up in the hall.

When the school district was only nine square miles, students were able to walk to school. Transfer students either stayed in town, rode horseback, or drove Model-T's. A barn provided for the students' horses was located just south of the present junior-high building.

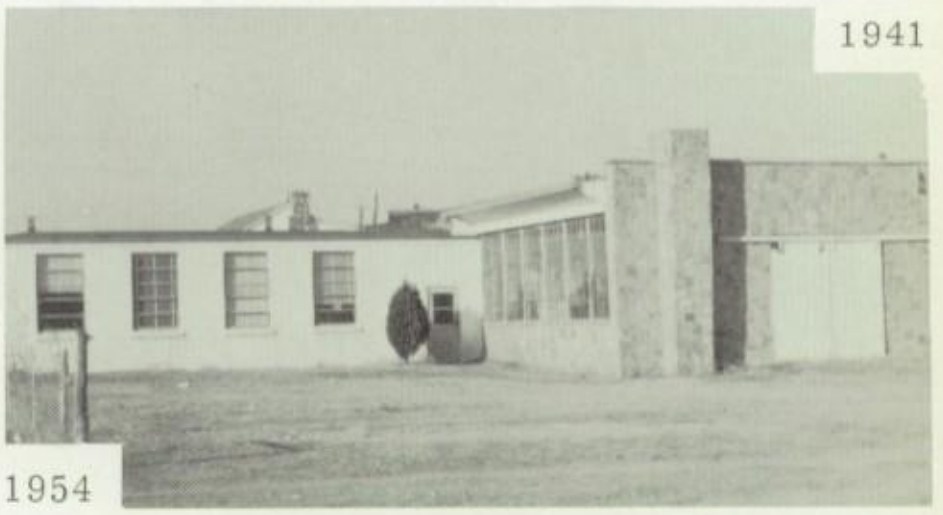
Right: High School 1916-1917

Below: Early air view of school and town

By 1910, they moved into a new building which housed four classrooms and an auditorium.

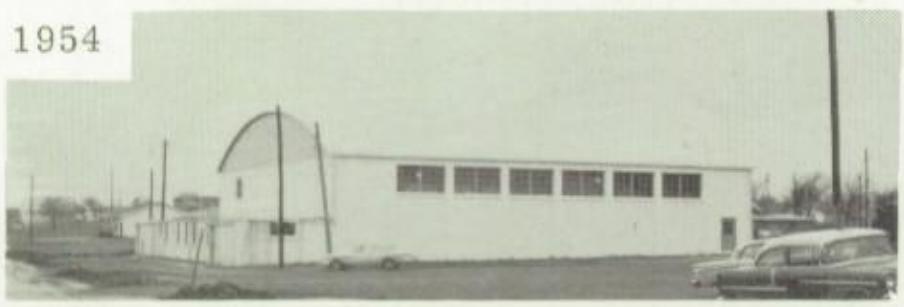
Recognizing the need for athletic training in school, a gym was built in 1928, and later it was also used as an auditorium.

The need for facilities to accomodate the rapidly growing school prompted the building of the high school in 1930. In keeping with the vocational training trend, the Home Economics building was added in 1940, agriculture in 1941, and Industrial Arts in 1952.

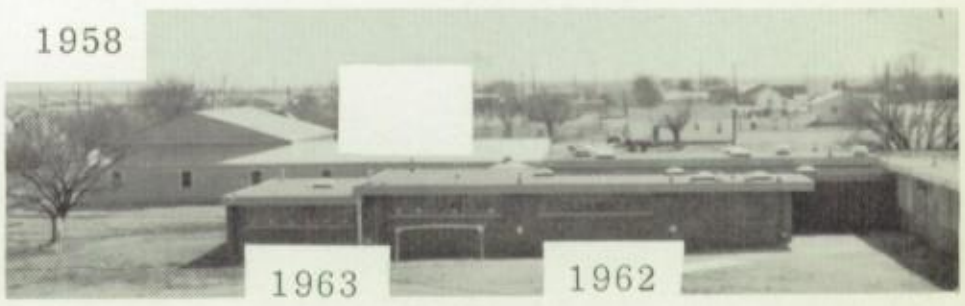


Post-war construction consisted of a three-room junior-high building and an adjoining cafeteria remodeled from an army hospital in 1947. Our first school bus ran in 1934.

Our transportation system now consists of nine busses. A maintenance garage was built in 1949.



As school activities increased, the community recognized the need for a separate gymnasium. This was constructed in 1954. In 1956, the teachers and students proudly held open house in their new nine-room elementary school.



In 1962, three classrooms and an all-purpose room were added. The boy's vocational classes could no longer be held in one building. This called for construction of a new show barn in 1958.

Our present school system is comprised of ten buildings accomodating six hundred twenty students in grades one through twelve, with 30 teachers.

We, the third generation of Elgin School, are proud of the school system established by our forefathers. This is what our community has done for us. Now, it is time for us to ask: "What can we, the senior class of 1964, do for the future development of our community and our school?"

In Memoriam

John Fitzgerald Kennedy

35th President of
The United States of America

May 29, 1917 — November 22, 1963

"Ask not what your country can do for you;

ask what you can do for your country."

Inaugural Address

It was an expectant nation that waited for a new administration to begin on January 20, 1961. What would this administration stand for? The answer came in John F. Kennedy's Inaugural Address in which he clearly outlined his and the nation's ideals, freedom at any cost--"This nation will pay any price, bear any burden, meet any hardship, support any friend, oppose any foe to assure the survival and success of liberty." He was ready to do this and told the people that they should be ready also. "And so my fellow Americans, ask not what your country can do for you, ask what you can do for your country."

We really don't know what place John Fitzgerald Kennedy will have in history--time will tell. However, let us, in our minds and hearts, build a Kennedy memorial of love, of determination to do all we can to stamp out those feelings that caused such a tragedy. We should dedicate ourselves to the cause for which he both lived and died. Let us give him the place of one of the greatest and most-loved presidents in the history of our nation--perhaps the place of one of the most powerful statesmen and courageous leaders the world has ever known.

It is fitting to conclude with the words of the man who has inherited the presidency, President Lyndon Baines Johnson, "So let us here highly resolve that John Fitzgerald Kennedy did not live or die in vain."

To John Fitzgerald Kennedy, this annual is dedicated.

Myrita Schroeder

Marie Nance

In Memoriam

Myrita Schroeder and Marie Nance were fatally injured on February 16, 1964, when the car in which they and two other passengers were riding was hit by a train.

Myrita was a lively, ambitious girl who had a friendly smile for everyone. Marie had a quiet nature and a warm personality.

We, the student body are glad we had the privilege of knowing these two girls.

Board of Education

To the Board of Education we extend our sincere thanks for their interest and efforts which made it possible for us to have the facilities and guidance needed for developing knowledge, character, and social well-being.

"Our twin goals must be: A new standard of excellence in education--and the availability of such excellence to all who are willing and able to pursue it."

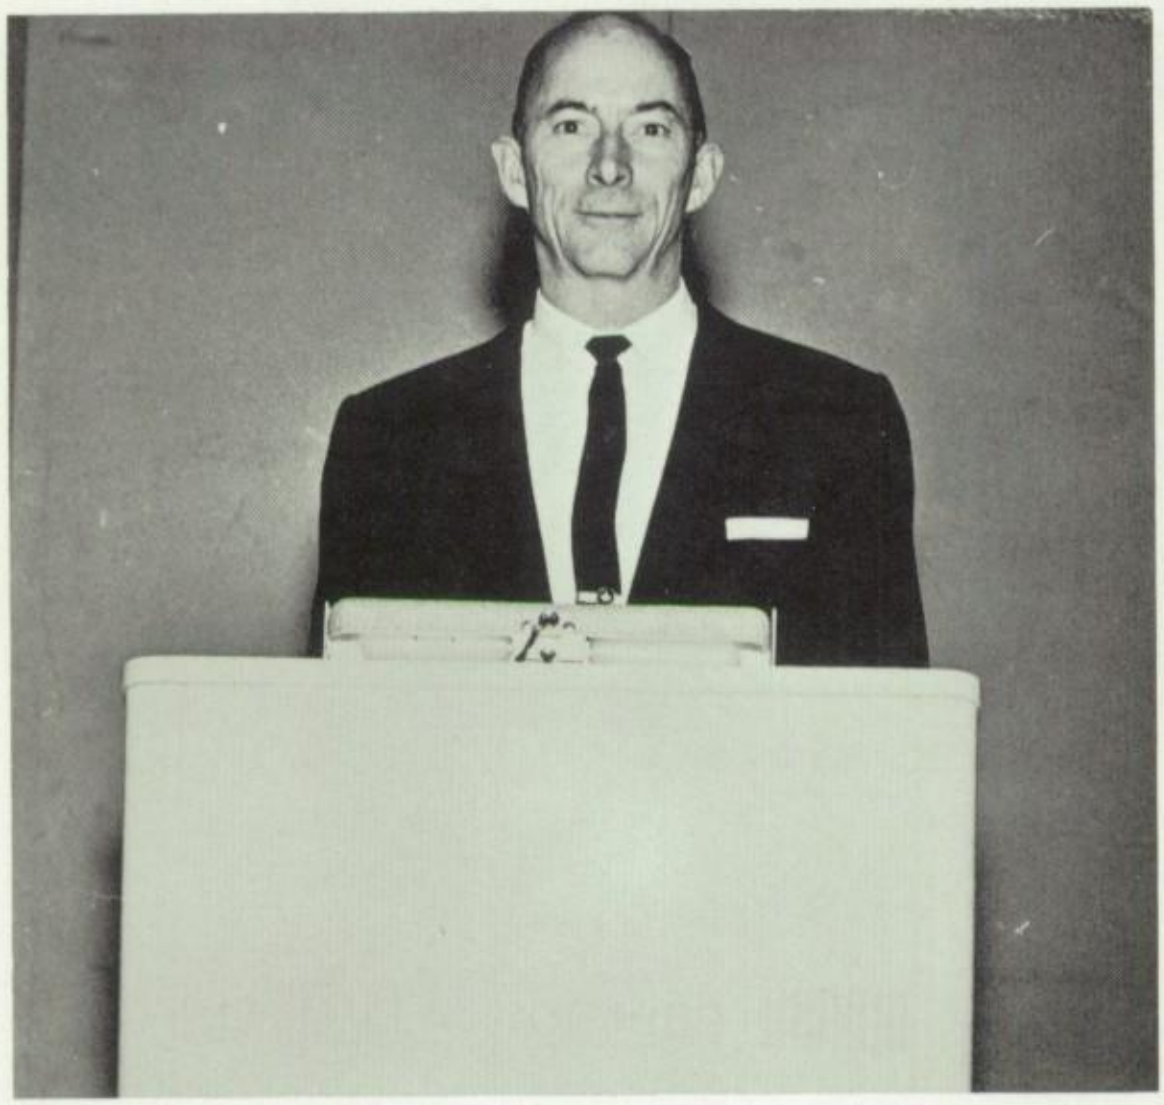
Our Superintendent



This annual is dedicated to the memory of President John F. Kennedy. The photographer was at Elgin taking pictures for the annual on the day of his assassination and the high school chorus members were posing for their picture at the time that first word of the shooting came over the radio.

While it is good to think of an educational system producing such great and distinguished young leaders as John and Jacqueline Kennedy, at the same time we must accept responsibility for the education of those like Lee Oswald who grew up hating this society and perhaps all of its leaders. Again, we can think of the young cigarette smoking U.S. high school boy in Panama who gives himself credit for starting the flag-flying ruckus in the Panama Canal Zone that has already resulted in the loss of several lives. These incidents emphasize the complexity of education and the importance of the growth of good personal qualities and attitudes, personal and moral traits, as well as high academic performance.

Sophomore Play

Absolutely Murder

This play describes the hilariously funny efforts of Aunt Kate to turn an old saw mill into a reputable place to live. Her efforts are hampered by the fact that a murder has, supposedly, been committed on the premises.

These efforts on her part are also complicated by the combination of a corpse which refuses to stay dead, a niece who wonders why, and a doctor who takes refuge from a storm with three teen-aged nit-wits.

Their efforts to solve the mystery result in a combination of comedy and suspense which is "absolutely murder."

Student Council

The Elgin Student Council, which was re-organized this year under the guidance of Mr. Barrow, is sponsored by Mr. Crosslin and Mrs. Seddon. Our council is a representation of the student body and serves as a median between students and faculty. Even though it has been organized only a short time, the council has already accomplished much. We know that with wise leadership and integrity the Elgin Student Council will become a vital, smoothly functioning part of the school system.

Annual Staff

In this the '64 OWL, the annual staff has presented glimpses from the past and the present.

1964 was a very eventful year not only in Elgin High School but also in our nation.

The annual staff voted unanimously to dedicate this yearbook to the late President Kennedy. We felt that President Kennedy was an influence on youth because of his interest in America's young people. Certainly he is worthy of the small respect given him in this yearbook.

We hope as you observe the contents of this book you will recall the many hours of fun, study, and the many victories achieved by you and your classmates during the past year at Elgin High School.
